U.S. Starts Inquiry Into Bomb Incident

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government launched a high-level military inquiry today into "wider implications" of the Florence S.C. atomic bomb accident.

At the same time Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy made it plain U.S. Strategic Air Command bombs will not stop carrying unarmed atomic bombs in "perilous times" despite fresh "ban the bomb" demands from Russia and others.

Ignoring U.S. claims that unarmed bombs cannot produce nuclear explosions, Radio Moscow declared that an accident like the one at Florence could touch off World War III if America ordered its striking forces into action in the mistaken belief an enemy attack had started.

Defense officials, without issuing any formal counterstatement, indicated there is virtually no danger of starting a major atomic war by accident. They said there are two major precautions:—There is a foolproof system for recalling U.S. Atom Bombers if they start a retaliatory attack that proves unwarranted.

—The bombers cannot by law drop nuclear bombs without the President's specific approval.

MEN BEHIND MACHINE. Left to right — E. F. O'Neal, owner of Arkansas Machine Specialty Co.; Frank King, co-owner of Southwest Wood Products; and Homer C. Beyerly, Southwest co-owner. Southwest is owned by four men, the other two, James Gunter and Harold Gunter, being in business at Wilton, Ark. The idea for the machine originated with Mr. King, further improvements being made by Mr. O'Neal in the course of its actual construction. The two men worked on its engineering all through the two years of construction on the Arkansas Machine Specialty Co. floor.

Southwest Wood Products, 420 E. Division St., is preparing to switch its production of stepladders onto a remarkable new automatic machine which has just come off the floor of the Arkansas Machine Specialty Co.

Two years in the making, this machine handles two stepladder rails at a time, a right-hand and a left-hand rail, cutting them to length, cutting the gains for the steps, and boring all holes for the hardware fittings.

The Star's photograph of the machine was made on the floor of the Arkansas Machine Specialty Co. March 5, and the machine was removed to Southwest Wood Products warehouse March 8, where it is now being prepared for actual production.

The machine replaces four separate operations formerly done on standard sawing and boring machines. It is the result of much planning and work done by Frank King, co-owner of Southwest Wood Products, and E. F. O'Neal, owner of Arkansas Machine Specialty Co., who took the needs and ideas of the ladder firm and with many ideas and modifications of his own, turned these thoughts and needs into a piece of modern and smoothly-running machinery.

The machine will produce over 400 pairs of rails per hour. In the past few years a number of ladder factories have come into being in neighboring states, and the ladder being a relatively simple product to manufacture, the business is fiercely competitive. Due to these conditions the selling price of ladders has changed very little in a world of constantly rising costs in nearly all fields.

This machine, the first of several needed production machines, has been installed by the ladder firm to assure continued growth and ability to serve the community and its trade territory.

Baptist Groups Plan Training Course Here

Baptist leaders from four local Baptist associations will attend the meeting here March 18 at First Church, Hope, for the annual Baptist Training Union Convention for the southwest district. Rev. Ralph W. Davis, of Little Rock, secretary of the Training Union Department of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention, has announced.

Associations comprising the district are: Caddo River, Hope, Little River and Red River.

The convention will get underway with an afternoon session beginning at 3:00 p. m.

"Planning for Sunday Evening" will be the theme for the opening session.

Speakers and the departments they will represent will include: Mr. Davis, General Officers; R. V. Hargood, associate to Mr. Davis; Adulley and Young People; Mr. Ruth Tolleson, records secretary and field workers; Intermediate Leaders; Mrs. F. P. Hicks, Snack-over, Junior Leaders; Mrs. Faber Tyler, Ozark Primary Leaders; Mrs. C. E. McGohtlin, Texarkana, Beginner Leaders; and Mrs. Morie Hadden, Texarkana, Nursery Leaders.

The departments for Intermediate, Junior, and for children below Junior age, will also be represented on the program.

At 4:30 p. m. the Junior Memory Sword Drill will be conducted with Mr. Davis in charge. Following this will be the district speakers' tournament for contestants 17 and 18 years old.

A meeting of the nominating committee will be held at 6:30 and the evening session will begin at 7:45.

Harold Bennett, pastor of Beech Street Baptist Church, Texarkana, will speak on "Let's Grow Up" at the evening session.

The conference team will present different aspects of "A Good Sunday Evening."

The Speaker's Tournament for the 19-24 age group and the Sword Drill will be held at the night session.

Court Asked to Restore Miami Station to FCC

By NEIL MacNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Federal Communications Commission asked the U.S. Court of Appeals today to return the controversial Miami, Fla., Channel 10 case to the commission "in the light of significant new information."

The FCC had awarded the channel to Public Service Television Inc., a subsidiary of National Airlines.

In a motion filed with the court, the FCC said that it desired to reconsider the grant because of public charges which have been aired at a House investigation.

Committee Recalls Whiteside
FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack who resigned as a result of charges that he let friends and money sway his vote in the Channel 10 case, who denied the charges, voted with the commission majority to award the channel to National.

The committee today recalled Miami attorney Thurman A. Whiteside for a fifth day of questioning about his tangled financial relationship with Mack. It completed its questioning of Mack Wednesday.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) said he had given up trying to learn from Whiteside the inner workings of Whiteside's financial world.

Moss said the House commerce subcommittee investigating alleged wrongdoing in the Federal Communications Commission must get all of the financial books of Whiteside, Mack and the two companies in which they both had interests.

Conclusion Sought
Subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) meanwhile pressed to complete the group's investigation of the hotly disputed Miami television Channel 10 case and set on to other matters still awaiting subcommittee action.

Whiteside, a life-long friend and financial "angel" of Mack, spent two hours Wednesday answering subcommittee questions. He had previously testified for three straight days before Mack resigned from the FCC.

Moss took nearly an hour questioning Whiteside on money matters involving Mack. Moss then appeared to have indications that Whiteside had made more "loans" or gifts to Mack than were earlier disclosed.

He cited a $1,250 "item" on the books of an insurance agency in which Mack was given a one-sixth share by Whiteside.

Mack testified earlier and was unable to account for $7,000 of the $79,000 he received during his 32 months on the FCC.

"Not Income"
He told the subcommittee he was able to say only that the "unidentified" funds were not income and he had not reported it as such on his income tax returns.

Mack, who testified before the subcommittee for two days prior to his resignation, returned for further questioning Wednesday despite the fact he was feeling "not too well."

Mack renewed his denial that anyone ever influenced his vote in the Channel 10 dispute or any other matter.

Benson Tells Congress President to Veto Bill Freezing Price Support

Star to Offer Free Show for Grade Schools

Hope Star today is distributing tickets to the white and Negro grade schools of Hope for a free showing of two famous Walt Disney real-life motion pictures in the Saenger theater at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

The pictures are "African Lion" and "Disneyland."

"African Lion" is considered to be the most thrilling of all Walt Disney's long list of nature documentaries, which started with "Beaver Valley" and "Sail Island." Hope Star expects to bring back to the local screen for the benefit of local grade-schoolers one of these great nature studies every so often.

"Disneyland," the second feature in Saturday's free show, is the picture story of Mr. Disney's famous West Coast amusement resort, where he has re-created such American institutions as Mark Twain's Mississippi steamboat, a train-ride through the Rainbow Desert, and many others.

The Saenger doors will open at 8:30 Saturday morning and the show will begin promptly at 10. Admission is by ticket only, obtained through the grade school teachers.

McClellan, Kerr to Speak at Water Meet

Bulletin

By UNITED PRESS
Heavy snow blanketed North Arkansas Wednesday and Wednesday night, and occasional snow was forecast for the extreme north portion today, ending early tonight.

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (UP)—North Little Rock police reported two white men robbed a Kroger store of $20,000 shortly after noon today. The store is located at 13th and Pike Streets.

UNITED NATIONS (UP)—The U.S. said today that Communist Hungary has failed to provide information on the fate of 21 prominent Hungarians despite an invitation from Budapest to seek the facts.

Homestead, Fla. (UP)—An Air Force B47 Stratofort bomber went down in the Everglades in flames today shortly after takeoff. Four persons are believed to have perished in the crash.

But as Senate debate on the measure began, farm belt members confidently predicted its passage as part of a Democratic anti-recession package.

Benson said the freeze legislation "would be even worse than the misbegotten hog-dodge farm bill which the President vetoed in another political year, 1956." He added that if the freeze "passes in its present form, (it) faces an almost certain veto."

"It looks bad to me," Benson said. "It looks like the type of legislation that would face a veto."

Benson listed nine reasons why "this legislation would be bad":

"1. It would further destroy markets.

"2. It would pile up additional surpluses.

"3. It would cripple standards set for determining price supports and acreage allotments.

"4. It would increase greatly the cost of farm programs.

"5. It gives little help to small farmers.

"6. It would establish mandatory supports on nine additional commodities.

"7. It ignores effect of the transition to modern parity—takes us backward.

"8. It would be unfair to winter wheat growers who signed up under the 1958 acreage reserve.

"9. It ignores most of the sound recommendations made by the President for further legislative action designed to expand markets and to reduce government regulations and controls over our farmers."

The freeze bill, sponsored by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), would order the administration to hold virtually all price supports and acreage allotments at not less than the 1957 level.

Two exceptions, suggested by House farm leaders who were consulted in an advance effort to speed passage of the resolution, were tobacco and "non-compliance" corn.

Tobacco was left out because scheduled for consideration with a separate law. Grower groups were reported willing to take acreage cuts next year if necessary.

"Non-compliance" corn is corn grown by farmers who do not comply with planning allotments. It was left out because some farm bloc leaders have no objection to support cuts for these growers.

Scheduled for consideration with the across the board freeze was a resolution freezing only dairy prices. Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), one of the sponsors of the dairy-only measure, said it would have a chance to win presidential approval while the broader measure faced almost certain veto.

There will be a singing at the Hope Gospel Tabernacle Sunday afternoon starting at 1:30 p. m. All singers are invited to attend.

"Camel" Sheep
Sheep often graze where there is not enough grass for cattle because sheep like to eat weeds and shrubs. They also can live without water for long periods.

Declares Such Action Would Be a Mistake

By BERNARD BRENNER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, said today passage of a Senate resolution to freeze farm support prices and acreage allotments is definitely at the 1957 level would be "a serious mistake."

Benson said the measure, if passed, "faces an almost certain veto" by President Eisenhower.

"The secretary told a news conference the legislation 'would hurt farmers, fly in the face of the technological revolution going on in agriculture, and be backward for the nation. It would take us backward at a time when we should be going forward.'"

United Press Staff Correspondent
JOLIET, Ill. (UP)—Nathan Leopold was released today on parole from Stateville Penitentiary where he was sent 33½ years ago for the thrill murder of Bobby Franks, and asked for "a chance—a fair chance—to start life anew."

Leopold walked out into a swarm of reporters under a bright spring-like sky, just 33 years, 6 months and 2 days after he was committed for what was called "the crime of the century," the chisel-slaying of the 14-year-old Franks.

He was a shaking, ailing man of 53 who pleaded for compassion and seclusion as he emerged.

Remorse for the crime, Leopold told the Pardon and Parole Board which finally gave him freedom, "things my every thought all day, every day."

He planned to begin a new life as a hospital technician for a church hospital in the mountains of Puerto Rico.

Keeps Sense of Humor
An authoritative source told the United Press that Leopold would stop briefly in Chicago and then go almost immediately by air to the island commonwealth.

This source said that the impression of elaborate secrecy was deceptive "it's all disarmingly simple."

Leopold emerged wearing a gray fedora, a gray herringbone overcoat, blue suit and black shoes. He wore a blue tie with a pattern of crowns.

The last barricade separating him was a screen door in the gate house outside the 52-foot high yellowish gray prison walls. A guard sounded a buzzer permitting the handle to be turned. Leopold hesitated just for a moment, smile and stepped out to greet his attorney, Elmer Gertz.

Some 100 news and cameramen met Leopold and despite the crush of people Leopold kept his sense of humor.

"Do you feel free now?" Leopold was asked.

"No, I feel hemmed in," he said with a smile.

Pleads for Privacy
There was a slight quiver in his voice as he read a prepared statement pleading for complete privacy. He said his parole agreement specified no interviews, no pictures, no television appearances and a withdrawal from publicity of any kind.

Gertz explained that an exception was made today for his departure to permit Leopold to voice his plea.

"I appeal as solemnly as I know how to you and to your editors and to your publishers and to so-

Mechanical Failure Caused Train Wreck

TWO RIVERS, Wis. (UP)—Authorities had to determine today what set off a diesel switch engine on a wild mystery ride last Friday which began at Manitowish and ended here at the harbor bottom—a mechanical failure or a Wednesday and was headed for The 25-ton engine finally was retrieved from the muddy bottom Wednesday and was headed for the Chicago &amp; North Western Railway repair yard at Green Bay where it will be inspected.

The cab yielded no body, but divers planned to search the river bottom for a possible victim who could have ridden the engine on its five mile dash before meeting a watery grave.

Frank Ellis, a special agent for the C&amp;NW, said only a visual check has been made of the mud-covered engine which had catapulted into 18 feet of water along with one bus car. A second bus car had toppled in later and both were recovered.

Several Hurt as Storms Lash U. S.

By UNITED PRESS

A storm belt twisted from a point 30 miles north of Miami, Fla., northwestward through the central Rocky mountains Wednesday night and today, bringing tornado winds to Florida and four-inch snows to Springfield, Mo.

Seven persons were injured Wednesday night when winds hit West Pompano Beach, Fla., where several trailers were turned over. The weather bureau said a tornado was sighted west of Pompano, Fla., but reported no casualties.

New snow clogged sections of Kansas and Oklahoma, where the accumulation reached five inches, and Missouri, where the four-inch fall Wednesday night brought the total to six inches.

On the West Coast, light showers mixed with snow flurries to dampen California, Oregon, Washington and the Great Basin states. To complete the weather tour of the United States, the Weather Bureau reported that light snow also had fallen around the Great Lakes region and in New England.

But, the nation's heart was warm. A temperature boosting trend took place in the Ohio Valley.

The forecast called for much the same weather pattern today, except that region near the Ohio River was slated to get some snow. Temperatures were expected to range from below zero near Laramie, Wyo., to about 75 degrees above at Key West, Fla.

Driving was reported hazardous throughout the Southwest snow belt. In Arkansas, a motorist was killed Wednesday when his car and a truck collided on a snow-slicked highway near Fort Smith.

Snow depths up to 10 inches were reported along Oklahoma's southern border and all dirt roads in the state were impassable. Up to seven inches of snow hit the El Paso area in Texas and the Texas Panhandle. Two-foot drifts in the Panhandle were blamed for the death of a motorist who suffered a heart attack when his car became stuck in the snow.

Society at large to agree that the only piece of news about me is that I have ceased to be news," Leopold said.

"I beg, I beseech you and your editors and your publishers to grant me a gift almost as precious as freedom itself—a gift without which freedom ceases to have much value—the gift of privacy," he said.

"Give me a chance—a fair chance—to start life anew," he said.

McMath Takes Lick at Faubus in Speech

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—Ex-governor Sid McMath said Wednesday that industry wants "law and order" and will not move to areas controlled by mobs.

His comment was part of closing remarks to the Sertoma Club, and apparently referred to Gov. Orval Faubus' actions in the Central High School integration crisis.

"The investment dollar seeks an environment of law and order where differences are settled in the courts and not by resort to mob rule and military power," McMath said.

He said Arkansas can not become a modern industrial state "and have a state government as unstable as a Latin American government."

McMath spoke mainly on development of water resources. He said, in what apparently was another criticism of Faubus, that the state would now have to "go out and bribe industries with promises of tax exemptions, land grants and cheap labor" if the rivers are developed for navigation.

He said if the people would demand action from Congress, the rivers could be developed in half of the 15 to 20 years it has been estimated would be needed for the work.

The work would put money into circulation and at the same time would be a capital investment which would pay for itself many times over, he said.

To Sentence Man On Murder Charge

PINE BLUFF (UP)—Circuit Judge Henry Smith plans to sentence Revel Dinkins, 48, negro, Friday on a second-degree murder conviction.

An all-white jury found Dinkins guilty of the charge Wednesday. Dinkins was accused of shooting Lustash Browder, 67, last September.

Prosecutor E. W. Brockman Jr. said the shooting was a "vicious crime" and asked for the maximum sentence. Dinkins' attorney, R. E. Ellibott Jr., said Dinkins was afraid of Browder and was justified in shooting him because Browder, a deputy sheriff, had attacked him.

Faubus Would Call Out Guard Again

DE WITT (UP)—Gov. Faubus said Wednesday he would "call out the guard again if I have to" to keep "one group from trampling another" in the Little Rock integration situation.

Faubus spoke to some 125 Floridians and guests.

"I do not want to see either side trampled by the other at Little Rock," said the governor. "I intend to continue to carry out my duties as governor regardless of extremes of persons on either side."

Faubus said the majority of people in Little Rock are "not ready to reintegrate and that the action of force by the federal government was by edict and not by law."

"If you can send troops to say who can go to school, you can also send troops to say who can teach, and it would not necessarily stop there," he said.

Garland P.T.A. Officers Elected

Garland School P.T.A. met Wednesday, March 12 at 3 p.m. in the Auditorium with 25 members present and two guest speakers.
Mrs. John B. Gardner Jr., president, presided at the meeting and the following officers for the next school year were accepted by the organization. President, Mrs. John B. Gardner Jr., vice-president, Mrs. Harold Brents; secretary, Mrs. Cyril Stuart Jr., treasurer, Mrs. Bill Moore; historian, Mrs. Buck Rogers; and parliamentarian, Mrs. Bill Watson.

Mrs. Harold Brents, program chairman, presented a program on Safety and introduced guest speakers, Mr. Royce Weisenberger and chief A. S. Willis of the City Police Force. Chief Willis presented interesting information on fire hazards in the home and school, showing how the Junior Fire marshals in schools had been helping in preventing fires. Mr. Weisenberger's talk was most informative with several illustrations of the most common types of traffic problems in our city.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Several years ago I had polio which left me somewhat lame. I am now in college, and this disability has prevented me from entering such sports as hockey, football, etc., though I am able to dance and take part in lighter activities. I have taken several girls out on dates and always enjoy myself, and they seem to have fun, too. I'm not bad looking, am popular with both boys and girls, have a keen sense of humor (so they say) and am a good student. However, I always feel guilty about asking a girl out because I think that she's coming with me out of pity, which I don't want. For this reason I hesitate to date very often. I'd like to know if I am just being foolish in my ideas or do the girls really feel sympathy for me?

C. H.
Dear C. H.: You scarcely seem like the sort of person to arouse pity in a girl. From your description, and your very fine letter, I'd say you were a fine young man, well able to compete socially with any football hero. Young girls are basically selfish, really, and I doubt if you'd get more than one to go out with you if she felt nothing but sympathy. A girl isn't going to waste an evening on a date that isn't fun. So, bid farewell to your qualms and your self-consciousness. The girls who date you like you, or they wouldn't be bothered.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We have a 7-year-old daughter who is the apple of her father's eye. He does not want her to do any work around the house—not even pick up her own clothes. He resents it if I ask her to dry a dish or set the table, and believe me, she's learning to play on his sympathy. I feel like an unpaid cook in my own home.
CARRIE T.
Dear Carrie: Doesn't Dad over-read the papers? The teenagers whose hoodlums are causing great concern throughout the land are in the headlines because they never learned discipline. Daddy is carefully rearing a girl who may take her place as a juvenile delinquent, 1966 model. If he won't believe me, let him talk to a few teachers. They'll wise him up!

Dear Dorothy Dix: Let me congratulate you on being a first-class disturber. For five months I've been trying to get Sally to go steady. She says she likes me but doesn't want to go steady. Now you come along with a letter advising some girl not to go steady, so Sally says you back her up. I owe all my trouble to you.

GENE
Dear Gene: It's much better for Sally to assert her individuality than to be tied down to a state of dating she doesn't want. I'll cheerfully accept some of the blame, but not all of it. If Sally finds you something less than irresistible, it's not my fault.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I love my boy friend very much. He treats me very well and says he'll stay my boyfriend as long as I'm faithful to him. I don't know whether to believe him or not.
WINNIE
Dear Winnie: While waiting for a love-detector to be invented, try having a little faith. You never can tell with men, so learn now to judge for yourself.

Says Tax Cut

Many and other labor leaders called on President Eisenhower to sell him on a tax relief plan. At the same time 1,000 other union officials attending an emergency economic conference sought congressional support for a tax cut, higher jobless pay and more spending on public works.

House investigators recalled Miami attorney Thurman A. White, side for a fifth day, but they all but despaired of figuring out his tangled financial dealings with resigned FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack.

Union officials were to have a chance before the Senate Rackets Committee to answer charges they stirred up a waterfront "riot" to keep the Kohler Co. from unloading a boatload of clay.

Other congressional news:
Economics: The Senate passed its first major anti-recession bill—a $1,650,000,000 emergency housing measure aimed at putting a half million men to work on 200,000 new homes.

Education: The House Education Committee spurned an administration proposal to cut federal payments to schools near government installations. Instead it voted unanimously to continue aid at about its present level.

Disability: A Senate judiciary subcommittee approved a proposed Constitutional amendment to permit a vice president to serve as acting president if the President is disabled.

Oceanographers call a seismic sea wave a "tsunami," which is the Japanese word for "harbor wave." It is man-made harbors which receive the most damage from a tsunami, which are caused by undersea earthquakes.

California Man Repays State $50

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The state of Arkansas is $50 richer because a California man has a 49-year-old conscience.

State Treasurer J. Vance Clayton said today he received a $50 check from D. Porter, San Bernardino, Calif., who explained he "misused" some Arkansas Guard uniforms back near the turn of the century.

"In the years 1903-1906 I was a member of the Arkansas Guard," Porter wrote. "I misused company uniforms, shirts, and so forth."

He said took the uniforms, and asked Clayton to take the money for the state.

"God has forgiven me and I hope the state through you will forgive me for this misdeed," Porter wrote.

Clayton said Porter was forgiven all right. The $50 will go into the general fund.

ROBINSON TAPERS

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UP)—Ray Robinson, who meets champion Carmen Basilio in a middleweight title bout in Chicago March 25, plans to wind up his training program next Monday and leave for Chicago.

Admiral Byrd's ship, the "Bear", which he used in Antarctic exploration, is being reconditioned in Nova Scotia for one of its pioneer tasks—hunting whales.

Tri-Service Club

Mrs. Gene Hale and Mrs. E. Adams were co-hostesses to the Tri-Service Club Friday, March 7, for the monthly social meeting at the home of the former.

The members began arriving at 9:30 and were pinned with lily green shamrocks. Bridge and Bohemia were played from 3 tables.

Potted plants were used in the living room and a lovely arrangement of jonquills, blue delfs and yellow tulips in crystal holders centered the dining room table.

Two small tables held arrangements of jonquills.

Girl Attacks Leading Man of Stage Play

NEW YORK (UP)—A pretty young Uplist, apparently angered at an adulterous scene in the scene in the Broadway play "Look Back in Anger," leaped across the footlights during Tuesday night's performance and attacked the leading man.

Crying, "He left me, he left me," Joyce C. Greller, 25, rushed across the stage and began striking the actor Kenneth Haigh, who portrays a cruel adulterer in the play.

"Why do you treat this girl this way?" she cried.

Haigh, who had been hit by fellow actor Alan Bates came to his aid. The two herded her toward the wings and actress Vivienne Drummond, who plays the adulterer's mistress, called for the curtain. The play resumed seven minutes later.

Lycium Theater officials said the third act scene usually gets a laugh, even though it is an ironic one.

The first act had opened with the husband and a friend onstage reading newspapers as the wife irons shirts. But by the time the third act arrived the husband had driven his wife to leave him and the mistress had moved in. This act opens on the ironic scene of the husband and the friend reading newspapers as the mistress irons the shirts. Nothing has changed but the woman who irons.

Miss Greller calmed down backstage and apologized for her behavior. She was released without charge.

Miss Greller said today that "something began building up in me right from the beginning."

"I was in one of my tense emotional cycles," she said. "I just had a fight a few days ago with a boyfriend and this thing on the stage reminded me of all the men I've known. It was a composite of every one of those rats."

Under Five Most Susceptible Analysis of 1957 cases shows that polio attacks children under five with much greater frequency than any other age group.

The highest "attack rate"—5.7 cases per 100,000 population—was found among one-year-olds. The next highest rate, 5.5, was among two-year-olds.

For all children under five, the attack rate averaged 4.4 cases per 100,000—more than three times the 1.4 rates for youths five through 19.

After 20, the attack rate gradually decreases with age. At 35, you have roughly four chances in a million of being paralyzed by polio if you fail to take shots.

Above 40, your chances are about one in a million who is tempted to play these percentages. Burney suggests a trip to the nearest hospital ward where polio victims are treated.

Gambling With Polio Is a Foolish Bet

By LOUIS CASSELL United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—There are 46 million people in America who are making what Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney regards as a very foolish bet.

They are betting that they won't catch polio.

Burney admits that the mathematical odds are in their favor. Paralytic polio has been reduced by almost 85 per cent during the past two years, thanks to Salk vaccine.

But polio has not been eliminated as a menace to health.

"In 1957, almost 2,000 children and young adults were crippled," Burney said. "Many of them will never walk again."

Have Not Started "No one can predict what the 1958 polio toll will be. But we do know that about 46 million susceptible persons have not started their course of three injections of vaccine."

"These people are needlessly risking disability and even death."

The Public Health Service, which Burney heads, regards everyone under the age of 40 as a "susceptible person" who needs vaccine protection against polio.

Of the 11 million Americans in this age group, 35 million have been fully vaccinated, and 30 million others have started the three shot series.

Burney said it is particularly important that all youngsters of pre-school age be inoculated as soon as possible.

Analysis of 1957 cases shows that polio attacks children under five with much greater frequency than any other age group.

The highest "attack rate"—5.7 cases per 100,000 population—was found among one-year-olds. The next highest rate, 5.5, was among two-year-olds.

For all children under five, the attack rate averaged 4.4 cases per 100,000—more than three times the 1.4 rates for youths five through 19.

Mack Can't Account for $8,000 Item

By NEIL MacNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Richard A. Mack who quit under fire as a Federal Communications Commission member, told House investigators today that he is unable to say where he got nearly $8,000 deposited in his bank account since 1955.

He emphasized, however, that the money was not income; it was deposited in his checking account since he joined the FCC in July, 1955.

Mack repented in testimony before the house subcommittee on legislative oversight that he had not yielded to pressure on any of his votes as an FCC member.

But he conceded that he was "bothered" by heavy pressure put on him in the hotly disputed Miami television Channel 10 case. Mack voted with the majority in giving the channel to a subsidiary of National Airlines.

"It's Not So Good"

Mack was recalled by the subcommittee in an attempt to clear up some of the confusion about his tangled financial arrangements with Thurman A. Whiteside, Miami attorney and a life-long friend who asked Mack to vote for National Airlines.

Whiteside and Col. A. Frank Katzenline of Miami, an unsuccessful applicant for the Channel

10 station, were standing by to testify.

It was Mack's first public appearance since he resigned from the FCC nine days ago. He has been under a doctor's care and told reporters today he felt "not so good."

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) asked Mack to explain the source of "unidentified" amounts of money deposited in his bank account that totaled $7,888. Moss said that the subcommittee staff had studied Mack's books and had been unable to determine where the money came from.

The sums apparently were part of the $11,000 that subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said was deposited in Mack's bank account over and above his salary.

Both Mack and Friends

Mack said he does not have free access to his own financial records. Part of them are in the subcommittee's possession and part are being studied by a federal grand jury.

Asked about the persons who tried to influence his vote in the Channel 10 case, Mack said:

"They thought they were. But nobody put pressure on me. I don't react to pressure."

Mack conceded, however, that "they bothered me."

He said he had known some of the persons involved in the Channel 10 case for many years.

"It's pretty hard to slam the door on a friend," he said.

Charlotte Bronte, author of "Jane Eyre," wrote in such a small hand that she could get 16 lines on each inch of paper.

Opinion Handed Out in Sewage Case

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The Attorney General's office said today public agencies which have the right of condemnation or eminent domain have the right to build sewage facilities.

The opinion said also that any governmental agency can use highway right of way for sewer lines, pipe lines, and so on, as long as they do not interfere with the highways.

M. L. Wood, director of the Arkansas Water Pollution Control Commission, asked for the ruling.

In a second opinion, the attorney general's office said the city attorney of a city of the first class cannot file an information in a felony case. The prosecuting attorney must sign it the ruling said.

It said also a city police court can, under Arkansas statutes, hold preliminary hearings on felonies.

Randolph Peritt, Crossett police judge, asked for opinion.

Trucking Permit Request Denied

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The Arkansas Commerce Commission denied a request Tuesday from C. A. White Trucking Co., of Seminole, Okla., for a trucking permit to carry oil equipment supplies.

The Commission, in its refusal to grant the request, said several trucking groups in the oil equipment supply filed had idle trucking equipment.

Natural Mistakes
"It was only natural that he made mistakes out there when I shifted him last year," Hutchinson pointed out. "It was a strange position for him, but he learned some things fast. He's got other things to learn and we'll work hard with him all spring."

Hutchinson would like to play
two fleet youngsters, Bobby Gene Smith and Curt Flood, but "I'm afraid that would take too much punch out of our lineup."

In an effort to strengthen his infield defense, Hutchinson shifted veteran Al Dark from short to third and Eddie Kasko from third to short.

Cover More Ground.
"Dark is happy at third and can to the job for us there," he said confidently. "Eddie will cover more ground at short and has a better arm, so our infield defense is going to be tighter."

It will be Don Blasingame at second and the one-and-only Stan Musial at first. Blasingame came into his own last year for the first time and rates among the best of the current crop of second basemen. While no fancy dan at first, Musial gets the job done.

Hutchinson also is satisfied that Hal Smith and Hobie Landrith will give him the defensive catching he needs. He admitted, however, he would like to pick up a third catcher.

Hutchinson Satisfied With Power

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)— Freddie Hutchinson, satisfied that his St. Louis Cardinals have plenty of power, expressed confidence today over his outfield defense.

"If I play Ken Boyer in center, Del Ennis in left and Wally Moon in right, it's a question of whether they will let in as many runs as they drive in," he said.

"They certainly give us plenty of power at the plate, but that won't help much if they make too many mistakes in the field."

He hoped, that Boyer, shifted from third base to the outfield last season, would show marked improvement both defensively and offensively.

"It was only natural that he
made mistakes out there when I
shifted him last year," Hutchinson pointed out. "It was a strange

What Happened to Lee Savold?

By UNITED PRESS

Lee Savold, a six-footer out of Marshall, Minn., campaigned among the heavyweights for 17 years. He ran up several impressive knockout strings but the good big man kept knocking him off just when he was knocking on the door of real stardom. Buddy Bar-ended one streak, Billy Conn stopped another an over-the-hill Joe Louis cut short his last big bid. Savold twice knocked out Lou Nova and gained some attention. In 1950, 1951 flattening Bruce Woodcock in London before Louis knocked him out during Lee's final drive to regain the heavyweight crown.

Whatever happened to Lee Savold? Now 42, Lee bowed to the inevitable and has opened a bar in New York City. He also is interested in several promising young boxers.

Need Courage, Class to Make the Majors

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE
(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)
By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—It requires a great deal of class and courage to make the grade in the major leagues.

Those blessed with extra talent find it the easiest. Others make up in heart what they lack in ability, giving it the extra "try"
which pays big league dividends.

But none has needed more of both than a man named Al Cic-otte.

His have not been the greatest catching talents in the game. Yet for 10 years he rode the bus and hamburger circuits in a personal crusade to reach the big time, a grim journey which carried him to Burlington, Norfolk, Kansas City, Binghamton, Birmingham, Denver, and Richmond.

Last season, quietly, he made it with the Yankees. Just because Al Cicotte saw little action, appearing in only 20 games and compiling a scanty 2-2 record over 65 innings.

Now again, as the Yankees train in Florida, he is battling to stick.

Always Fighting
"I struggled and fought for everything I ever got," he says quietly. "I'm not through yet."

He did have to struggle and fight, more than most.

Because the name of Cicotte for 38 years has been anathema in baseball.

Back in 1919 there was another Cicotte, first name Ed and nicknamed "Knickles," had acres of talent. Hurling a "shinoball," he was one of the brightest pitching highlights in the game. In 1919 he won 29 games and led the Chicago White Sox into the World Series against the Cincinnati Red-legs.

The White Sox, overwhelming favorites, lost.

It was a year later before investigation revealed that a number of them had "sold out" to gamblers. Cicotte, who lost two games, was banned from baseball for life along with eight others. Their records were wiped from the books and their disgrace was complete.

Baseball has ever forgotten
those names, holding them in undiminishing contempt.

Coming Back
And, while that was 38 years ago, Al Cic

Dulles Warns SEATO of New Asian Attack

MANILA (UP)—A warning by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today that the Communists may be plotting new aggression in Asia touched off demands by SEATO's Asian members for more economic aid to block the Red menace.

The Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand raised the demands for aid at the afternoon session of the SEATO foreign ministers meeting. They called for a sustained and realistic economic aid scheme for the have-nots of Asia who might fall prey to communism.

Dulles spoke at the opening session this morning. He said the intensification of Communist propaganda charges against SEATO could indicate new plans "which the Communist rulers fear SEATO might block."

Dulles came back at the afternoon session after the economic aid issue was raised to point out that the United States in the last four years had assisted member nations in the area with hundreds of millions of dollars worth of such aid.

He said that in the last year alone the United States has given 600 million dollars in economic assistance to three SEATO member countries of the area—the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan—and to the three protocol countries—South Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

Dulles emphasized that this was economic help and did not include the additional pure military aid given to this area by the United States.

Spa Woman Found Shot to Death

HOOT SPRINGS (UP)—A 28-year-old woman, found shot in the head in a local bar, died in a hospital here today.

She was Mrs. Patricia Wilson, wife of the owner of the bar, Fred Wilson.

Police chief John Ermy said results of an investigation of the shooting might be announced later today.

The authorities said they were called to the bar Tuesday afternoon and were met by Wilson on the sidewalk. He pointed out signs of an apparent break in and said he called the police. The bar had not been open during the day.

Police on entering found Mrs. Wilson slumped over a table in a booth with a .22 caliber automatic rifle near her.

Ex-Governor of New Mexico Dies

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. John J. Dempsey (D-N.M.), 78, who served two terms as governor of New Mexico, died Tuesday night.

He was the 10th member of the House to die in the 85th Congress and the fourth since Congress reconvened in January. His death reduces the number of Democrats in the House to 233. There are 199 Republicans.

It also brought to four the number of vacant House seats. The other death-caused vacancies are in the Pennsylvania, Illinois and Wisconsin delegations.

Dempsey, a congressman at large from New Mexico, had been ill for about a month. He entered George Washington University hospital a week ago.

His illness began with a virus infection and a cold, and developed into uremia.

Dempsey served two stints in the House, the first from 1935 to 1941 and the second from 1951 until his death.

Senate Okays Supplemental Money Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate approved a $2,869,520,610 supplemental money bill Tuesday night to finance various government activities for the remainder of the current fiscal year.

The measure, which now goes back to the House for action on Senate amendments, also would authorize the Agriculture Department to commit an extra 250 million dollars this year to handle a flood of soil bank applications. It was passed by voice vote.

The Senate, following the advice of its Appropriations Committee, likewise restored $2,804,000 for the U.S. exhibit at the Brussels International Trade Fair. The House had knocked the item out of the measure.

However, the Senate rejected a move to increase cotton acreage allotments by 30 per cent. It also refused to suspend its rules to permit a vote on a proposal to block Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's plan to slash dairy price supports.

But the debate indicated that many of the senators who opposed the rules suspension would favor freeing dairy supports at present levels when the issue is brought before the chamber as the regular order of business.

Shackleford Again Senate Candidate

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—State Sen. Marshall Shackleford Jr., of El Dorado filed Tuesday for a third term as senator of the 15th Senatorial District.

The senator, representing the district comprising Union county, heads the Legislative Council and is a member of the Executive Committee of the National Legislative Council.

BUTCH GETS A BUTCH—One of Barber George Wood's favorite customers is Butch, a 45-pound Boxer who looks forward to a haircut with almost as much anticipation as to a good steak. It all started when Butch accompanied George to his barbershop on Pittsburgh's north side one day. Seeing the empty chairs, the big dog leaped into one, sat down and waited for something to happen. Going along with the gag, George placed a bib around Butch's neck and proceeded to give him a trim. Now Butch shows up regularly, wants his turn and gets his trim. As customers go, George says Butch is a dream. He never complains, never talks the barber to death and never steals the latest magazines.

Miss Fleming Would Bring Back Glamor

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Glamorous Rhonda Fleming has a remedy for the ailing motion picture business. "Bring back the glamour girls," she says.

"A four-alarm glamour girl hasn't hit the screen since Jayne Mansfield made the big splash a couple of years ago," Rhonda said, between takes of a new movie.

"Right now there's a trend to dramatic actresses who aren't as spectacularly beautiful as the glamour variety. Eventually it balances out when sex raises its beautiful head—as in the case of Marilyn Monroe."

Out of a Slump
"She brought the film industry out of a terrible slump. So did Betty Grable and Lana Turner. Those girls let the public know that not all females are 'just like the girl next door.'"

"I have no idea who the next sexy star will be. But I'll bet she's a well-rounded blonde who hasn't been seen to often on television. And she will have to appeal to both men and women. Marilyn did."

The auburn-haired beauty believes women rule the box office, and that husbands trail along at their wives' suggestion.

To lure feminine customers back into movie houses the studios are turning to love stories and feminine appeal pictures. "Sayonara" is a good example.

Heroines, Not Heroes
"Action pictures and Westerns have almost ruined things for actresses," she said. "We're gradually getting back to romantic films with heroines playing the top roles instead of heroes."

She ticked off examples—"The Nun's Story," "Peyton Place," "The Three Faces of Eve," "Marjorie Morningstar," "Auntie Mame" and "The Barbara Graham Story."

Rhonda currently is co-starring with Jean Simmons and Dan O'Herlihy in "Home Before Dark," another drama aimed at disaffected audiences.

Movie-goers will be surprised to see the Fleming girl with blonde hair—bleached for the picture over her protests.

Key West Warm, Colorado Cold

NEW YORK (UP)—Key West, Fla., was the warmest spot in the nation Tuesday, with a reported temperature of 79, the U.S. Weather Bureau reported.

Today's low was 2 below zero, recorded at Leadville, Colo.

The meantime I still had a couple of hours in which to dig. No sense wasting time with Uncle Frank. I got some change and phoned Rose. No answer. I was counting on her for more dope on Wren. I called Ma, and she said, "Dave, I've been trying to reach you. I'm cooking, are you, and Mary coming up for supper?"

"Well I . . . uh . . ."

"Dave, we haven't seen you in two weeks. Papa is so hurt, you mustn't ignore us." Her voice was full of shrill pleading.

"Aw, Ma, I'm not ignoring you. I've been busy. Okay, we'll be up for dinner."

The phone company was getting rich off me. I dialed Mary and she blew her top when I told her. "Dave, this is Friday night. I want to go out, see a movie, have a drink."

"We'll see a movie tomorrow. You know how Ma and Pop are, and we haven't been up there for weeks."

"Tomorrow. Sure, you have to be at your lousy job by midnight! Why didn't you go up and see your mother this afternoon?"

"I was busy and she wants us up in the evening when Pop's there. I'm on my way to see Uncle Frank now. Come on, Mary, you know this family stuff. I can't get out of it."

There was a heavy silence at the other end till Mary said quietly, "Dave, I'm not going to make a scene. I'll phone and beg off, tell them the truth: I'm tired. You go up and—"

"You bet I'm going," I said.

I'd heard a lot about Uncle Frank's joint, but I'd never visited the place before. It actually was a beehive of activity, or something. And it really wasn't his place, he was a one-third partner.

Uncle Frank looked as though he was made up for laughs—an old pair of dungarees, a dirty loud plaid shirt, a dead cigar in his mouth like a whistle, and a pair of pince-nez glasses on his fat nose.

Frank never stood still for a second, walking and running all over the place, taking packages from one conveyor belt to another, or throwing them down a chute, bawling out people, screaming orders. There seemed to be thousands of packages, from thin tie boxes to big crates. At the end of each roller where the chutes started, there were scales and girls, perched beside the scales.

Uncle Frank always was a jerkier talker and as he showed me around he would break off a sentence with a nervous yell to somebody about, "Why are you ship-bus dresses today? It's Friday. All dress goods go express!"

Youthful Robbers Sought in State

WALDENBURG (UP)—North-east Arkansas Police continued their search today for four pistol-waving youths who got $500 when they held up a liquor store at this Western Poinsett county town Tuesday night.

Sheriff C. T. Sullivan said the teenagers, armed with pistols, held up the Sullen Liquor Store. The operator of the store, John Sullens, was unharmed.

Officers set up roadblocks in all directions.

Indonesian Troops Occupy Key Airfields

SINGAPORE (UP)—Central Indonesian government paratroops have occupied the airfield at Pak-anbaru in Central Sumatra, Radio Jakarta announced tonight.

The announcement from Jakarta came shortly after an Indonesian diplomatic spokesman in Holland had disclosed that loyal paratroopers had been dropped against the rebels in the Central Sumatran jungle.

The spokesman at The Hague said these "self-contained units," assigned a "series of special tasks," had jumped into action "this week."

He did not specify exactly when the paratroop drops took place, but a revolutionary source in Singapore said he had received an unconfirmed report the government forces had hit Pakanbaru today and that there had been some fighting.

An earlier announcement in The Hague said landings had taken place in areas besides the already announced sea assaults at Bengalis, Sungai Pakning and Selat Pandjang.

Meanwhile, the rebel forces grouped in Central Sumatra were reported braced for an expected onslaught by loyal forces against Padang, one of the principal centers of the insurgent "counter-government."

Climbing

In 1900, life expectancy in the United States was 47.3 years. In 1954 (last year for which accurate figures are available), average life expectancy had climbed to an all-time high of 69.6 years, and increase of 22.3 years in a half century.

Chapter XXVIII

I had a bright idea: long as I was downtown I might as well see Uncle Frank and slick him for lunch, save some dough. I phoned and he asked, "Dave, you coming to see me?"

"Yes, I'm downtown, thought we might have a bite together." Although if Uncle Frank didn't reach for the tab first, I'd be in a fine spot.

"Who has time for lunch I just ate a stale sandwich and a bottle of soda. My ulcer will kill me tonight. When will you be over?"

"About a half-hour. I have a few calls to make. Take it easy, Uncle. I just left another man whose blood has turned to coffee."

I hung up and dialed the Owens house. Susan's sharp voice asked, "Yes?"

"Dave Wintino?"

"I've been waiting for your call."

What about the money, can we—

"So far no. I still don't know, so leave the dough alone. I've found the guy who handed out the money but things are still foggy."

"Who's Francis Parker?"

"Your father, on a tax dodge. Remember, don't touch the cash and let me talk to your mother."

There was a moment of silence and then the old lady said, "This is Mrs. Owens."

"Dave Wintino, Mrs. Owens. During March I did Mr. Owens over mention doing any outside work. I don't mean at the brokerage house, but detective work."

"Why, I—" Jane Owens began, as the operator cut in with, "Five cents for the next three minutes, please."

"What did you say?" Mrs. Owens asked as I told her to hang on, dug out a nickel and put it to work. "Did Ed ever mention doing any private detective work in March?"

"No."

"When he talked about getting the little farm in California soon—about when was that?"

"About two months ago."

"At any time since he retired did he ever talk about doing private detective work?"

"No. He couldn't have done any work like that, he was home till he left for the brokerage office and then he always came right home to work in his garden before it got dark."

"Okay. Thanks. I'll keep in touch." I hung up as she started to ask about the money. I got the manager of the brokerage house on the phone, another 15-cent call. Since I had to wait till he finished talking on another line, he said Owens had never missed a day since he'd worked there. Wales had been sick sometimes. "You know the kind of sickness, he drank too much of his favorite pain-killer," the manager added.

I decided to give myself a deadline—by tonight I'd tell Reed about the four grand, Wales watching the garage for years, and Owens working for Wren. In

Navy Again Delays Test of Vanguard

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP)—They tried in vain again today to launch a Navy Vanguard rocket with a baby moon in its nose. After working long hours to get the slender 72-foot missile into the sky, the weary Vanguard crew had to "scrub" the effort. The firing was called off just before noon. No explanation was given.

It was apparent, however, some sort of trouble developed in the rocket, which had been due for launching early in the day. In Washington, Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the Vanguard project, announced: "Technical difficulties slowed the test to a point where the allowable time that liquid oxygen could safely remain in the Vanguard test vehicle was exceeded, necessitating a postponement. The test will be rescheduled in the near future." At one point, the countdown leading up to the firing progressed to four minutes and 12 seconds from triggering of the slim bird. After a delay of some four hours

McClellan and Curtis Swap Hot Words

By DICK WEST
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Mo.), a member of the Senate Rackets Committee, said today he was "not satisfied" during which the service structure was rolled back over the rocket to make repairs, the count went to three minutes and 50 seconds.

with the committee's investigation of the Kohler Co. strike. He demanded that the committee staff pin down who was responsible for the violence in the 4-year-old still continuing labor dispute. Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) retorted that he was "not going to take the blame" for the committee's failure to establish facts which company detectives and local police had failed to establish. The exchange came as the committee was questioning Robert Treuer, a publicity man for the United Auto Workers, about alleged mob action which prevented the company from unloading a board of clay at Sheboygan, Wis., in 1955. Kohler manufactures plumbing fixtures at Sheboygan. Stunt Didn't Work Treuer denied that he made radio broadcasts designed to "incite a riot" at the Sheboygan docks. All he was trying to do, he said, was attract a "handful" of people to see what he called the "auto worker's navy." Treuer explained that the "navy" was a "publicity gimmick" designed to call attention to the strike during "a very quiet time" in 1955 when it had already been underway more than a year. He said he recruited "a little armada" of six rowboats to greet the clay boat, a Norwegian vessel as it docked. The union planned to pass out strike leaflets to the crew. Treuer said the stunt didn't come off very well because three of his rowboats "foundered" before they got started, and someone went fishing in another. Gunaca Not Questioned Curtis denounced Treuer's testimony as typical of the manner in which various witnesses have disclaimed responsibility for the vandalism, violence, mass picketing and other incidents that culminated with the strike. Wood using industries in the United States employ more than 7,000 trained foresters.

Developments Up Before Congress

Senate leaders hoped for passage by nightfall today of the first big anti-recession bill of the session—a $1,350,000,000 housing measure. Most Democrats and Republicans joined forces behind the bill as drafted by the Senate Banking Committee. There was some partisan friction over interest rates on GI home loans. Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles was expected to go into Pentagon plans for offsetting the slump with a job-producing $1,500,000,000 military construction program in an appearance before the House Armed Service Committee. Some congressional experts were placing the odds at "20 to 1" in favor of a tax cut unless there is a sudden pickup in business conditions. Both administration policy makers and congressional democrats were showing a surprising amount of agreement on the kind of tax cut to enact—if it's needed. One thousand union leaders planned a mass invasion of Congress to push demands for an immediate tax cut and other ways of beating the recession and rising unemployment. Other developments Tuesday: Dempsey, Rep. John J. Dempsey (D-N.M.), 78, died after a brief illness. The former New Mexico governor was the 10th member of the House in the 85th Congress to die and the fourth since the lawmakers reconvened in January. Rivers and Harbors: The House voted to authorize $1,544,627,800 worth of river, harbor and flood control projects after defeating repeated Republican efforts to trim the total. The bill, approved by a roll call vote, 321-0, now goes back to the Senate which approved similar legislation last year. Public Works: The Senate Public Works Committee passed a resolution urging administration speed on all authorized civil public works programs after taking on language praising President Eisenhower. Autos: Congressmen pressing for a cut in federal excise taxes on new cars said they have been assured by the auto industry that any tax savings would be passed on to the public. Appropriations: The Senate approved a $2,880,526,016 supplemental money bill to finance various government activities for the remainder of the current fiscal year. The measure, which now goes back to the House for action on Senate amendments, also would authorize the Agriculture Department to commit an extra 250 million dollars this year to handle a flood of soil bank applications. It was passed by voice vote.

Lauren Bacall May Wed Frank Sinatra

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Actress Lauren Bacall and Frank Sinatra are reported to be near-bound but confirmation must come from the singer. The 33-year-old widow of Humphrey Bogart hinted to friends Tuesday night that it was possible she would wed Sinatra. However, she wouldn't say when or where and added: "Any further statement has to come from Mr. Sinatra." Sinatra was not talking in Miami Beach, Fla., where he is making a night club appearance. His hotel said he was unavailable for comment. The sultry film star provoked speculation about a possible marriage last month with the statement that she certainly intended to marry again. She was widowed in January, 1957. "If I thought I was never going to get married again I'd retire from the human race," Miss Bacall said. "Once you've been married, and it's been good, it's the only way to live. I don't believe in a woman living alone. That is for the birds. It is no fun to have it all just the way you want it." Sinatra has been married twice. He had three children by his first wife, Nancy. Actress Ava Gardner, his second mate, filed for divorce in Mexico last year.

Leaders Seek Action for Jobless Pay

WASHINGTON (UP)—House Democratic leaders today promised quick action by Congress to increase jobless pay for the mounting army of unemployed. President Eisenhower has promised to ask Congress to extend the duration of jobless payments. His program is slated to go to Capitol Hill Wednesday or Thursday. Without waiting, House Democrats disclosed they have begun drafting their own plan and indicated it will be more liberal than the President's increasing the amount of weekly payments as well as their duration. The Democratic plan was said to call for: —A 10-week extension of payments, raising the maximum time an unemployed worker could draw compensation to 42 weeks. The administration was reported planning to ask for an extra 13 weeks of payments to a maximum of 55. —A sharp increase in payments. Some Democrats proposed these be boosted to one-half an unemployed worker's regular pay. —An early-back feature to give the new benefits to workers who used up jobless pay earlier this year. —The President's plan drew sharp criticism Monday from the National Association of Manufacturers, who complained it would amount to a federal dole. —The Labor Department, under this and other criticism, was said to be thinking twice about proposing a 13-week extension of jobless pay with the federal government footing the bill. —There have been proposals in the Senate to boost jobless pay with federal aid but the Senate Democratic leadership has not taken a stand on the issue. The AFL-CIO has put increased jobless pay high on its list of "must" anti-recession measures.

Hearing on Freight Rates Is Recused

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The Arkansas Commerce Commission Tuesday recessed a hearing on proposed intrastate railroad freight rate increases until April 11.

All Arkansas railroads are seeking a 12 per cent increase in the rates. The companies presented their testimony to the commission Monday and Tuesday. The commission decided to delay further hearings so that opponents of the increase can prepare their arguments. The federal Interstate Commerce Commission last year granted a 2 per cent increase on the interstate shipments.

COUNCIL FOR GAZA CAIRO (UP)—A local legislative council will be set up in the Gaza Strip Saturday to give inhabitants "more say" in their affairs. Diplomatic circles speculated that it might point to formation of an autonomous government in the area that would adhere to the United Arab Republic formed by Egypt and Syria.
